Dear Family member:

We take joy in reporting to you that Serving Our World is on the move and we thank you for your continual support.

UPDATES

East Timor: With the funds sent a clinic is being constructed and the Serving Our World family is now involved in providing the necessary care and pre-school education where there previously was none in this village!

Thailand: When we presented that we wanted to come monthly to feed and begin caring for the children that have been orphaned and abandoned. The chief was so excited that he offered us to use his home and his wife and family will cook the food right in their own house!

It is our priority to listen to the needs of such villages, and to look into the eyes of a child or families in need and service the area where they are looking for assistance.

The door is open for the Serving Our World family to get more involved. What I would like to share with you this month is something that has been stamped into my life, heart and soul as we continue to move Serving Our World into a place less traveled, but much in need.

As I spend time in fellowship with the children in different cities and villages it always comes to a point that I have to make a decision. There is always the question in the eyes of those we go to, WILL YOU?

Will you, seems to be the question in all the squatters villages, to rural communities we have visited. Will you stay? They never want you to leave. Will you play, one more game, one more activity? Will you, watch this or listen to one more song? Will you, come and see where I'm living? Will you, meet my friends?

They want so much for you to learn more about them and to be involved and to experience 'one more' thing with them. When you do they can look past the trauma of their lives and begin to see that maybe you will be like a father or mother to them.

Serving Our World is answering Yes as much as it can and together we will link up to boys and girls like you see here. And as you can see in their eyes they are asking, "Will you?"

Your giving sends a Yes around the world to those waiting. It reaches across the borders and stretches down the streets and alleyways where countless children and families are waiting. You are saying Yes, we will provide a loving home for Fa and her sister Fern. Yes, we will help give medical care to Nina. Yes, we will give you Noon the education and family you are asking for.

Your tax-deductible gift to Serving Our World will, I guarantee reach those that are asking. It's our passion and our purpose.

Together touching lives,

Michael Thomforde
Founder/President
