Dear Family member:

This year is going to be a very special year for you and for countless children and families in Asia. We would like to share with you the blueprints for the 'Good Life Home' in Thailand so you can see how in a practical way you are making a huge difference.

In each of our own lives we have an individual blueprint. Following our purpose and like passions that drive us on in the things we do. Which in turn make us feel fulfilled in our journey of life.

Yet there are many who have such great obstacles and circumstances, which are beyond their control, who don't get to ask the question, "What is my purpose?" The challenges that they face are too great and they don't pursue anything more than what was done before them.

Maybe you are asking the question, "What is my life leading me to?" It is here that Serving Our World would like to give you the opportunity to step into the lives of children who are trying to overcome their desperate circumstances. Children without the resources or family support that they need to carry out a dream or an ambition of any kind.

Boys and girls with no place to call home or in which to start life's journey of exploring their blueprint and purpose in life. This is what we want to make available to you. A plan, a vision that you as an individual or business can relate to and step into and be a part of.

Here is the blueprint of the 'Good Life Home' for you to review and consider what active part you can take in making this vision a possibility!

Vision/Function

Here a part of this rural village is the 'Good Life Home'. This is not another orphanage but a home based on the vision that children need families and families build communities. All work together to strengthen each other to change and build for a brighter tomorrow.

NOTES:

Just think, from being left behind or having no family, to living in a loving home where nothing is impossible!

A-01

The 'Good Life Home' will be a residence for fifty boys and girls with house parents that work to unite broken families and for those without birth parents bringing them together with the love and care of the community. Inside the home are classrooms, cafeteria, office and a meeting room for those times the children and community unite together for fun and fellowship.

The 'Good Life Home' is also preparing new and exciting ways to incorporate the whole village, supplying educational needs and skill training in the areas that are most in need. Benefiting those in the GLH and community who desire a better life by training for a future in micro business.

As you review your set of blueprints open yourself up to the possibility of getting involved in helping someone else discover their purpose in life. This facility will impact those in the surrounding 13 villages making lasting changes for many children and families who are now looking so forward to the completion of the 'Good Life Home'. Will you consider being a part of making a lasting change to those in need?

Thank you for reviewing the possibilities that are released as we all work together.
